

Registration Opens for 2023 RuralRISE Summit

Annual gathering brings together rural organizations including ecosystem builders and non-profits

For Immediate Release

Washington D.C. (April 28, 2023) – The RuralRISE team and the Rural Community Assistance Partnership Incorporated (RCAP) are delighted to announce that the annual RuralRISE Summit will take place June 20-22, 2023, in Waterville and Skowhegan, Maine. Registration is now open for the upcoming in-person summit, which will include speaker sessions, tours of both Waterville and Skowhegan, networking events, and many other immersive experiences.

Maggie Drummond-Bahl, Strategic Partnership Director for the Maine Connectivity Authority said, “Maine Connectivity Authority is thrilled to welcome the Rural Rise Summit to Maine in 2023! The amazing RuralRISE network is vital to practitioners in our state and rural states across the country. It allows us to learn from and connect with one another in our shared efforts to grow entrepreneurship and innovation in rural communities. We are excited to put Maine communities, innovators, and ecosystem builders in the national spotlight, and welcome colleagues and peers from around the country to our great state!”

RuralRISE continues to utilize summits to bring together entrepreneurial ecosystem builders, non-profits, agencies, and educational institutions from America’s rural communities. These summits offer diverse and supportive places where ideas can flourish. View the schedule and register at <https://www.ruralrise.org/summit-2023/>.
